April is National Child Abuse Prevention Month!

This month, read here for daily ideas to promote child well-being, and look for blue pinwheel gardens spreading awareness throughout the community.

Learn more here!

Maltreated children can be difficult, but don’t forget:
- Be patient and consistent.
- Treat them like their emotional age.
- Have realistic expectations.
- Understand them before you react.
- Find details and additional tips like these in this article.

Stress Sensitivity Class
Tuesday, April 21
6:00 to 8:00
Call to enroll!

News

Come to our Family Fun Day!
We’re having a Teddy Bear Picnic for Child Abuse Prevention Month on Saturday, April 25
11:00am to 1:00pm
Please call to RSVP by April 20!

Also, check out our new website!
We are still doing finishing touches, but we’re excited to share this new resource.

Additional Resources

- Do you know what family protective factors are?
This resource guide can help parents and social service workers to strengthen families.

Find the Family Support & Treatment Center at our website, on Facebook or by calling (801) 229-1181